

Robin Dolobach

Robin Roggenkamp has a track record of success in helping great leaders become even more effective. She is repeatedly requested and trusted by C-Level executives, Senior Executives (SES), Executive Directors, Military Leadership, Nurse Leaders, Industry Peers, and upcoming executives in the private and public sectors to provide 360 assessments, one-on-one coaching, leadership team development, succession planning, training, facilitation, retreats, and career transition guidance. She is known for being a positive change-agent, inspiring cost-savings and agility, and supporting high-profile leaders and their teams through peak times, major changes and complex or high-risk decisions.

Robin has designed, implemented, and managed multiple executive coaching programs with exceptional results for private sector and federal clients, including serving as the Coaching Director for Customs and Border Protection's Leadership Institute from 2014-2016. She is a "go-to resource" for discriminating leaders when the stakes are high. She commonly has engagements extended due to client satisfaction with their positive results. Robin provides focused, confidential, and holistic support to successful leaders who desire no-nonsense, real-world solutions, and those who are ready and willing to, "look in the mirror." She is the ideal coach for executives who are committed to personal and staff development, creating a spirited and engaging corporate culture, increasing shareholder value, having candid and meaningful conversations, appreciating and retaining top performers, and living healthy, balanced lives.

As a top-rated trainer and facilitator, Robin focuses on immediate practical application and measurable outcomes for a wide range of organizational and leadership topics. She is particularly passionate about helping organizations ensure they have the right person in the right role to maximize their effectiveness and value, providing career transition guidance, facilitating the development of diplomacy and partnering skills, aligning supervisors with senior leadership, and in inspiring staff/teams to take full and enthusiastic ownership of their own career, behaviors, and outcomes.

Candor, integrity, and bottom line impact have resulted in Robin being hired to oversee, launch, and execute inaugural, mission-critical programs, including the Department of Navy's Executive Management Program Office, the Office of the Secretary of Defense's Senior Executive Management Panel, and Military Sealift Command's, "People Care Project." Additional clients include highly technical leaders from SAP Americas, OPM, Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Agriculture, Department of Treasury, Department of Defense, National Security Agency, Millennium Challenge Corporation, National Institutes of Health, Veterans Administration Nurse Leadership, US Bureau of Labor Statistics, Federal Elections Commission, Robert H. Smith School of Business, Customs and Border Protection, Department of Education, Department of Energy, Housing and Urban Development, DSM Nutritional Products, Booz Allen Hamilton, Price Waterhouse, Ernst & Young, Lockheed Martin, Freddie Mac, Windstream, Boston Consulting Group, Fannie Mae, Microsoft, etc. Robin holds a Coaching Certification and has been professionally trained by CPAD, CTI, and ICF. Additionally, she attended the Navy's prestigious Executive Business Course, has thousands of hours of successful coaching experience, and holds active clearances (DOD, DHS, & DOI).
